

Fig. 4. Refining fully convolutional networks by fusing information from layers with different strides improves spatial detail. The first three images show the output from our 32, 16, and 8 pixel stride nets (see Figure 3).